LOWER THE FLAGS.

The danger has passed and the nation is now engaged in an effort to repair the grievances of distressed Mexico through the channels of diplomacy. War clouds have scattered from the horizon and the country is not troubled with any immediate hostilities. Weeks or even months may be consumed in the diplomatic discussion that will point the way for Mexico to reconcile its differences and resume industrial activity. Under the circumstances it is timely that flags should be lowered, cleaned and prepared for the sacred ceremonies of Memorial Day. It is a glorious distinction to know that Tonopah was the only city in Nevada that signified its patriotism by displaying the flag at the first sound of war. In the east and on the coast the practice was beautifully and generally observed, but Tonopah was the only place in Nevada with sufficient gumption to show the colors.

MEMORIAL DAY.

ONE week from Saturday is the day of all days ordained for the observance of services to perpetuate the memory of the heroes of the civil war. The day should be observed in accordance with the time-honored custom and the Bonanza reminds all citizens of Tonopah to lend their assistance to the Woman's Relief Corps in contributing to the solemnities of the occasion. May 30 is popularly known as Decoration Day, but this is a misnomer and one that should not be encouraged. The simple ceremony of decorating the graves of the dead heroes is only part of the ceremonies incidental to the day. The chief feature of the program is the lesson impressed on young and old, the inculcation of patriotism and loyalty to the flag, the sacrifices of our forefathers and the nobility of the women of the sixties who sent their sons and brothers to the front to fight for the flag they loved so dearly.

At this time memories conjured by Memorial Day should be pictured in the most solemn manner. The nation is on the verge of war. Any hour may bring the call to the colors. Recruiting offices may be opened and every adult gifted with physician endurance invited to enroll his name in the list of those who are prepared to die for their country.

Never was a more opportune time presented for the proper and faithful celebration of Memorial Day. Let the citizens of Tonopah unite without regard for political or religious affiliations in doing honor to the dead and furnish an inspiring lesson to the growing generation.

FIRE THE RASCALS OUT.

IT is a cold day when congress cannot dig up some pretext for appointing a committee of investigation for something or another and at this season when the mercury soars high in Washington the new industry is reported quite active. Some of these committees have little or no excuse for service except as an excuse to escape the dreary monotony of the regular sessions by lolling in the luxurious committee rooms where the fragrant mint is dispensed with palate ticklers calculated to reduce the caloric of an overheated system. However, there is one yet which the busy congressman has allowed to escape his clutches. This is an excellent one for use in the hot summer vacation providing congress can bring itself into a frame of mind that will permit the country to enjoy a respite from the perennial flow of oratory at Washington and a deluge of Congressional Records. The one biting subject fit for eminently moral and upright statesmen is an inquiry into how senators and congressmen are allowed to appoint their private henchmen to lucrative offices in Washington without requiring the personal attendance of the appointees.

James D. Finch, of Reno, Nevada, appears in the Congressional Directory as messenger to the interstate commerce committee of the senate. To officiate as messenger in Washington without living there is a paradox which cannot be harmonized with professions of economy except by the liveliest stretch of imagination. Finch has not been out of Nevada for the last three years. He maintains an office in Reno and has a sign declaring he is ready to practice law. He is seen on the streets of the riverside city every day except when he prefers to spend his time fishing at Tahoe, and there is no disputing the fact that he is not in Washington; that he never was in Washington long enough to get acquainted with the duties of his putative office, and that he does not know enough about Washington to find his way to the White House without a guide. Finch is the whipper in for Newlands and his actual duties consist in keeping the California senator's forces in Nevada repaired between campaigns. For this work the government has to pay.

Now the question naturally arises if there are not others in the same boat. If the administration at Washington is so parsimonious that it finds time to stipulate the size of tips for traveling officials it certainly seems as it would not be a loss of dignity to find out

Ordination of Women

THEN and NOW

The first woman to become a regularly ordained minister was born 89 years ago today. She was Antoinette Louise Brown, later Mrs. Samuel C. Blackwell, the daughter of a farmer of Henrietta, N. Y. When she came to consider a college education in 1842 the Collegiate Institute, now Oberlin college, was the only institution of its kind in America where women could pursue a collegiate education. She was graduated in the literary course and in the theological school, but although she established later a reputation as a brilliant speaker, she was refused a license as a preacher. She turned to lecturing upon women's rights, and was a leading member of the first woman's rights convention that met in Worcester, Mass., in 1850. Three years later the bar against her entry to the ministry was lowered and she was ordained as pastor of the Congregational church at South Butler, N. Y. Later she joined the Unitarian ministry, always continuing her agitation for woman suffrage.

Today more than 2,500 women are preaching as regularly ordained ministers in the United States. More than 7,000 others are registered as members of the legal profession, and thousands are scattered among various professions and industries which half a century ago were considered solely fields for masculine endeavor. Many cities today have women as mayors and heads of civic departments. State and city school boards are headed by women. There are a score of women who have the right to practice law before the United States supreme court. Many colleges have adopted co-education, while there are more than thirty colleges devoted exclusively to the feminine sex. In the universities, colleges and technical schools of the United States during the last year there were over 5,000 women professors and instructors, and more than 100,000 women students.

If a few parasites and leeches could not be dispensed with without crippling the Democratic administration. Finch, poor fellow, needs the money to keep up a front for Newlands, but there are others.

The senate maintains seventy-two committees, seventy-two messengers and an army of other retainers. If Jimmy Finch can draw salary while living in Nevada, it is fair to assume that others do the same thing. By eliminating the Jimmy Finches who have fastened themselves to the senate the country would save $108,000 every year, or sufficient to provide substantial public buildings in Tonopah and Goldfield. This sum would also look well to some of the overworked star route contractors who are struggling with mountains of parcel post without proper compensation. This is a subject worth the paring knife of a real live statesman and its consideration is recommended to congress.

The Tonopah Military band has tendered its services free of charge and the demonstration should be in accord with the spirit that prompted the musicians to donate their aid to make the program an unqualified success.

J. Holman Buck, editor and owner of the Western Nevada Miner, has arranged to establish a Democratic morning paper in Tonopah and has concluded terms by which the paper will be issued from the Bonanza office until such time as he is able to install his own plant. Mr. Buck is one of the most forcible writers of Nevada and his aggressive attitude in the warm political campaigns of the past eight years is a sufficient guarantee that the members of his party will not lack spice or ginger.

WOMAN ACCUSED OF FRAUD IN MINING CASE

MRS. ANNETTE LOUDER PROMISED JOBS FOR INVESTMENTS IN COPPER MINE.

SEATTLE, May 19.—Mrs. Annette Louder, president of the Kuperanof Copper Mining and Smelting company, was arrested today at a leading hotel on the complaint of a post-office inspector. She is accused of using the mails to defraud in connection with sales of copper mining stock in various parts of the country.

Gustav Sturm, of Chicago, and two other men arrived here yesterday in pursuit of Mrs. Louder and tried without result to effect a settlement. Sturm said he invested $1,700 in the company and was promised a superintendency by Mrs. Louder. Nine other investors, said Sturm, had been promised employment in return for

Mother Stanislaus Tells of Recovery

Neglected throat trouble, and continued coughs and colds, often weaken the system. Investigative reports of recovery brought about by Eckman's Alternative. Here is story:—In February, 1911, four doctors examined my throat and pronounced the necessity of an operation. Having heard of Eckman's Alternative, I was visiting of St. Louis, where I was visiting of Eckman's Alternative. I determined to try it. I took it in 1911. After taking four or five bottles large pieces of diseased tissue came away. I continued the Alternative, to my grateful and daily relief. In ten months I was restored to perfect health. I would like them to see and hear from my own lips, if they so desire all I would say of it.

(Signed) MOTHER STANISLAUS

SILVER BOW SHIPS CONCENTRATES WORTH $1,295

AUTO TRUCK BRINGS IN A SAMPLE OF WHAT A SMALL MILL CAN DO.

Ten sacks of concentrates valued at $1,294.96, in the accurate language of the assayer, arrived yesterday by auto truck from the Silver Bow Bell, where Cook & Delifuss have been working for the past few months developing a mine that promises to rank with some of the fine little producers of the state. A two-stamp mill has been installed and the partners are going ahead with production, relying solely on what they are able to secure from the plant to meet their obligations. They have had some difficulty in finding the right kind of treatment to save values, but they think they have at last mastered the trouble.
